Strategic Health Vision

A holistic approach bringing together all health, allied health and lifestyle-related agencies is needed to make Cloncurry Shire the best that it can be in providing a healthy, happy, and sustainable lifestyle for residents and visitors.

Performance of health agencies intimately linked to their ability to recruit and retain long-term local staff. This is in turn linked to the lifestyle and support facilities available in the Shire making the community a place people want to stay.

Led by Council, the Cloncurry community will:

- Continue to advocate for urgent operational health necessities and upgrade of hospital and allied health facilities
- Continue to advocate for broader community needs including increased surety of longer-term health funding commitments and reductions in excessive travel costs
- Create the community facilities needed to support improved public health, wellness, and lifestyle in an effort to make Cloncurry the best possible place to live
- Work to better coordinate and build synergy between health agencies to provide the highest possible levels of healthcare, remove duplication, fill gaps, and share resources. A key part of this will be support to the Community Advisory Network (CAN)
- Build a connected, informed, active and well community

Council's Commitment

Cloncurry Shire Council is the guardian of the Cloncurry community and its wellbeing. We believe it is the responsibility of leaders in the community to constantly strive towards improvement, growth, and prosperity. Council has again proudly teamed with health service providers to look forwards to set the foundations needed to make our Shire a healthy and liveable community.

'I want Cloncurry to be the Healthiest town in Queensland...' Mayor Greg Campbell

Collectively with local health service providers, Council shares the common objective of providing quality services and facilities to build and maintain the health and wellbeing of people in our communities. Despite the many different perspectives of the organisations and individuals involved in developing this vision, Council has been impressed with the unity of views and the willingness of different agencies to commit to working together as a whole of community group to improve the quality of life for our residents and our visitors.

This Shire-wide vision for a healthy, happy, and active community is based In the strong collaboration between health and lifestyle providers of all types and representing both different levels of government, commercial and for-purpose operators. It really is a shared vision.

This is a key planning and advocacy document for Council and will guide our ongoing work to make Cloncurry Shire a place we can be proud to call home and one which welcomes new people, giving everyone the facilities and services, they need.

This is the third edition of the vision, each one based on the successes and learnings from those gone before. Council takes a leading role in both directly providing some health-related services and working to create and support an environment where other agencies are able to best undertake their different roles. Council achieves this by:

- Providing housing and subsidised rental of building and facilities
- Providing community access vehicles
- Providing access to Council Facilities at reduced rates for health and community organisations
- Undertaking minor repairs and infrastructure upgrades to support health and community organisations
- Providing dedicated staff to support the community, including a newly appointed Community Integration Officer
- Creating a liveable and attractive community with a range of enabling services to support a health and active community
- Seeking and supporting others to seek third party grants
- Advocating on behalf of the community to improve the quality of life in the Shire on issues including airfares, other government services, opportunities for new development
- Cloncurry is strategically placed to service health needs for Julia Creek to the East and the Gulf Country to the North

It was very clear from the various feedback and input for this health vision that a major upgrade at the Cloncurry Hospital is a priority of the highest order for the community.

Mayor Greg Campbell, Cloncurry Shire Council

Community Overview

The Shire of Cloncurry is the local government area in Northwest Queensland covering an area of 47,971 square kilometres and standing at the crossroads of the region providing access to The Gulf, Mount Isa (119km west) and the Northern Territory, Dajarra and Boulia, Longreach, and Townsville (770km to the east). The Cloncurry Shire encompasses the traditional lands of the Mitakoodi people along with parts of Kalkadoon, Pitta Pitta, and Wanamara lands.

European settlement of the Shire followed the expedition of Burke and Wills in 1861 when the explorers named a significant river flowing north into the Gulf of Carpentaria “Cloncurry” for Burke’s cousin, Lady Elizabeth Cloncurry.

The township of Cloncurry was founded in May 1867 by Ernest Henry (the first European to appreciate the vast mineral wealth of the district) and has been the administrative centre and major population ever since, with the area gazetted a local government entity in 1884.

Known as the “Friendly Heart of the Great North West”, the Shire celebrated its 150th anniversary in 2017. The Shire played a pivotal role in the establishment of two Australian icons – QANTAS and the Royal Flying Doctor Service.

Still built upon strong pastoral and mining backgrounds, today Cloncurry’s core industries include grazing, copper and gold mining, transport and mining services with a vibrant tourism industry also emerging.

The 2016 Census reports that 3,031 people live in the Shire (most in Cloncurry or Dajarra), making it the second most populated local government area in the region. This population count does not consider the many large FIFO mining operations throughout the district and the growing number of visitors (especially self-drive grey nomads) arriving each year. This population is estimated at an additional 1,500-2,000 people that are based in Cloncurry throughout the year. While not permanent residents and therefore not generally considered by policy makers and funding agencies, these groups are consumers of local health services.

Located within Queensland Health’s Northwest Hospital and Health Service (NWHHS), the Shire has a range of community health, allied health and well-being agencies and services. These are listed later in this document.

Queensland Health has been approached to provide Cloncurry specifics statistics; however, no response was received.

Methodology

Based on participation in framing the previous Cloncurry Health Vision and on local knowledge of any changes in the local health landscape, a list of organisations was developed by Council and participants were invited to attend a half-day workshop on 26 May 2021.

A short online survey was circulated to invitees to provide updated information and a starting point for face-to-face discussions. The outputs of this forum are the basis of this vision document. A copy of the raw input is contained in Appendix A.

Follow up meetings were held with individuals and organisations to provide more in-depth information or clarification of comments or proposed solutions.

Health Vision Workshop held on 26 May 2021 in the Cloncurry Shire Hall.

Priorities

Participants in the Health Vision Forum identified several ongoing and emerging priorities to form the basis in this renewed Health Vision.

The priorities are actionable by Council, health providers, and in some cases, collectives including some or all local agencies. The priorities are also both operational and strategic, in some cases requiring input from government and other agencies outside the Shire.

Ongoing Operational Priorities

Significant ongoing need for North West Hospital and Health Service to provide infrastructure upgrades to the Cloncurry Multipurpose Health Service facilities, specifically providing wards and rooms with ensuite facilities, improving shade around the site for both people and parking, addressing site security issues, improving ambulance access, upgrade of the Accident and Emergency department, and improvements to the outpatient’s clinic

Significant ongoing need for North West Hospital and Health Service to provide upgraded services through the Cloncurry Multipurpose Health Service and Community Health Centre, especially a permanent social worker, and local mental health capacity workers.

Council and relevant agencies to urgently improve aged care services (community, in-home and residential) throughout the Shire

Council and others to provide appropriate and safe accommodation in Cloncurry and Dajarra for visiting and permanent health staff, students and others working in the health areas

Council to continue to advocate for Blue Care to return management of local services to Cloncurry

Ongoing Strategic Priorities
Council will continue lobbying government and operators to reduce predatory transport costs
Council will lobby for an increase in integration and coordination of community health services, especially mental health, through provision of added staff capacity
Council will drive lobbying for continuity and certainty of funding for local services, noting that a cycle based on short-term grants inhibits the development and effective provision of services
Council will drive efforts to improve health staff attraction, recruitment, and retention through making Cloncurry a more liveable community with better access to exercise and lifestyle activity, and ongoing enhancements to community facilities
All agencies will work collaboratively to provide more equitable access to health and related services in outlying communities across the Shire (notably Dajarra)
All agencies will share responsibility for building greater coordination of and collaboration between health services and provision in the shire. This includes sharing of resources and knowledge, reinvigorating and refocusing the Community Advisory Network, regular high-level meetings to progress this health vision, and foster better engagement with the community
Ongoing Emerging Priorities
There is a need for a coordinated approach to local aged care which brings together the multiple agencies involved, map services and gaps, and work to enhance holistic in-home and residential services including meals, cleaning, and regular health checks
There is a need for Council to lead a coordinated approach to developing and maintaining community accommodation both for general and crisis situations
The community requires improved access to healthy lifestyle and exercise options including a replacement multi-use facility, after school and vacation care, outdoor exercise and recreation options, longer pool hours, support to clubs/groups, improved disability access to facilities/businesses
There is an urgent need to review and map the range and style of service provision across the Shire to ensure that enhancements by agencies outside Cloncurry to tele-health, low-risk birthing, dental, visiting specialists, and other initiatives don't reduce current access or capacity in the Shire
There is a need across all service providers and agencies for better education and promotion of health and lifestyle opportunities. Improving community health literacy, supporting community members with managing health administration, and greater engagement is critical
Dajarra is emerging as a specific area of concern for the effective provision of health and community services

Focus Areas

Within the emerging priorities identified, several key focus areas became apparent. Service mapping and provision should focus on:

- Youth services, including both wellbeing and developmental
- Specialist support services, including domestic violence, mental health, and drug and alcohol support
- Filling current staffing and service delivery gaps, including maternity, dialysis, dental, social worker, and nursing vacancies
- Community lifestyle and wellbeing facilities, notably the development of a multi-use community hub to improve health outcomes and reduce population transience
- Appropriate and safe accommodation across the Shire
- Proactive and collaborative sharing of resources where practical, including sharing staff, accommodation, infrastructure, transport, and program funding
- Community transport, focussed on better use of current equipment and staff to support medical appointments, school, aged care and community connectivity across the Shire and links to other centres
- Working to build funding and program continuity across the health sector

Key Projects

In addition to the actions by other agencies (notably North West Hospital and Health Service), participants in developing this Health Vision overwhelmingly identified two projects as keys to improving health and lifestyle outcomes for the Shire, these being a fit-for-purpose community hub and a mechanism to ensure better ongoing coordination of health offerings to eliminate gaps and duplication.

Key Project One

Cloncurry Hospital Upgrade

While this project is a Queensland Health responsibility through the North West Hospital and Health Service, it is identified as a significant infrastructure requirement to ensure the provision of safe, efficient, and suitable medical treatment for residents of the Shire. Council will continue to strongly lobby the Queensland Government to release funds and resources to rectify the situation. Cloncurry Hospital is overdue for upgrade and is progressively becoming less fit for purpose. Specific upgrades required to improve safety and patient outcomes are:

- A new Ambulance entry adjacent to the Accident & Emergency area
- Update of the Accident & Emergency area and wards in line with current best practice (including ensuite facilities and working areas for clinicians)
- Dedicated facilities to support visiting specialists
- ICT upgrades to allow effective e-health (records, tele-health, etc)
- Renewed focus on facilities and staffing for paediatric, maternity, renal and palliative services
- A new Ambulance entry adjacent to the Accident & Emergency area

Bringing local hospital services up to the standard expected in the 21st century would reduce the load on Mount Isa and Townsville hospitals.

Key Project Two

Community Hub

At present the largest community facility in the Shire is the Alfred Traeger Cultural Centre (part of John Flynn Place) from which PCYC currently operates. The non-airconditioned space offers capacity for netball, basketball, dodgeball, volleyball, a chillout room and boxing area and is only accessible to the community when PCYC personnel are in attendance.

Participants agreed that there is a significant need for a fit-for-purpose community hub to provide year-round facilities for a range of health, lifestyle and community development services including PCYC, youth space, gymnasium, adventure training, vacation care, outside school hours care, kindergarten, theatre, shared space for community groups, community kitchen, post disaster facility, and function as a pavilion/facility for larger events at John Flynn Place and for the Cloncurry Show.

Key Project Three

Health Agency Collaboration

Participants identified the need for ongoing high-level coordination of health agencies in the Shire, potentially through the reorganisation of the existing but dormant Community Advisory Network (CAN).

It is proposed that each agency appoint a single senior representative to CAN to maximise continuity and ability to negotiate. That a single lead agency be identified and resourced appropriately to support a dedicated CAN Chair. That the terms of reference for CAN be reviewed and updated to better reflect community need.

Once re-established, that CAN develop a robust communication and consultation plan, comprehensively map the gaps and duplication in local health provision, implement more effective local resource usage, inform, and consult with the community, advocate for enhancements in local health care, target innovative ways to recruit and retain health staff in the Shire, and regularly report back to members and the community.

*Note that the raw input into these two projects from forum participants is contained in the supporting documents.

Consolidated Outputs from Forum Participants & Community Survey

What Priorities are still valid and need progress?

- Hospital infrastructure upgrade – wards and rooms with ensuite facilities, shade, security, ambulance access, accident and emergency, outpatient’s clinic
- Hospital services upgrade – permanent social worker, local mental health capacity
- Appropriate accommodation in Cloncurry and Dajarra for visiting and permanent health staff, students and in general across the Shire.
- Better access to health and related services in outlying communities (Dajarra etc)
- Aged care enhancements – residential and in-home
- Greater coordination of and collaboration between health services and provision in the Shire – sharing of resources and knowledge, reinvigorating, and refocusing the CAN, regular high-level meetings to progress, better engagement with the community.
- Improving staff attraction, recruitment, and retention through making Cloncurry a more liveable community – better access to exercise and lifestyle activity, continued lobbying on transport costs, working to enhance shire facilities.
- Continue lobbying for continuity and certainty of funding for local services – short-term grants inhibit the development and effective provision of services.

What needs have emerged since the last health vision?

- A coordinated approach to local aged care – enhancing in-home services with meals, cleaning, and regular health checks.
- Community accommodation – crisis and general
- Improved community access to healthy lifestyle and exercise options including a replacement multi-use facility, after school and vacation care, outdoor exercise and recreation options, longer pool hours, support to clubs/groups, improved disability access to facilities/businesses.
- Review range and style of provision for services – tele-health, low-risk birthing, dental, visiting specialists, etc – ensuring that enhancements do not reduce current access or capacity.
- Better education and promotion of health and lifestyle opportunities – improve health literacy.
- Consider Dajarra for specific health planning attention (is this a shared vision?)

- Youth services – both wellbeing and developmental
- Specialist support services – DV, mental health, and drug and alcohol support
- Fill current staffing/service gaps – maternity, dialysis, dental, social worker, nurses
